

Daryl Gouthro MLT

Daryl is the Team Lead for the Transfusion Medicine Laboratory of Providence Health Care in Vancouver, British Columbia. St. Paul's Hospital Laboratory provides a full scope transfusion service and Mount Saint Joseph Hospital is a dispensing facility within the Providence Health Care facilities.

Daryl was raised in Glace Bay, NS and trained at the Nova Scotia Institute of Technology in Halifax. He worked in Drumheller, Alberta in a rural setting and then moved to Vancouver where he has held positions in Chemistry and Transfusion Medicine at various times. He has worked in sales selling both blood bank reagents and infectious disease markers.

Daryl has worked with the BC Provincial Blood Coordinating Office on projects relating to blood and blood products in BC. He is a past Board member of the CSTM. Until recently he served several consecutive terms as a member of the standards committee.